

Kay Nice is the Administrative Director of Nice Enterprises, Inc. and has been working with the company since its inception, providing comprehensive and encouraging support to both clients and internal staff in various functions and environments. Her role involves ensuring that each client receives the materials and support they need for a smooth and productive engagement while supporting the consultant in achieving the desired outcome. She believes that there is an innate desire to succeed and make a positive impact inside everyone and she is dedicated to helping both individuals and organizations achieve that reality.

Kay and Ron have been married for over forty years and, together, raised three sons. Kay also home educated their three boys while acting as the director of a home education support and oversight group. Kay has actively taught both adults and children in a number of various venues and her greatest joy is assisting others in journeying toward expanding and reaching for their goals.
